Navigating through today's challenging times

Managing your interest rate risk effectively is critical to the profitability of your institution as well as its safety and soundness. During the current economic environment, community financial institutions may face challenges from fluctuating interest rates, uncertain investments and variable markets.

The 2010 Regional Member Meetings will help you discover innovative ways to take on these challenges. Ed Krei, managing director, The Baker Group and FHLB Des Moines staff will help keep you on course by sharing strategic insights to strengthen your interest rate risk management practices including measurement, monitoring, corporate governance and mitigation.
