The Federal Home Loan Bank of Des Moines (FHLB Des Moines or the Bank) is aware of the recent security vulnerability with log4j.

The Bank does utilize certain products that use log4j. However, FHLB is using a version of log4j that is not vulnerable. As a precautionary measure FHLB Des Moines is upgrading known instances of log4j within its applications. In addition, as known affected vendors release updates, FHLB Des Moines will apply said updates following its established patching policy. At this time, there is no evidence that the Bank had been affected by the log4j vulnerability in a malicious manner.

FHLB Des Moines will notify appropriate parties if additional information should change this status.
